REQUIREMENTS

Taviana Island requires ArmA 2 or ArmA 2 Combined Arms to run properly. There will be no difference in terms of functionality when running the island in either of these games.

Taviana Island is NOT compatible with standalone expansions such as ArmA 2: Operation Arrowhead/British Armed Forces and so on... The island will not work properly unless the game contains the content required to run Chernarus.

INSTALLATION

To install Taviana Island, launch the Taviana Island Installer.exe installer and follow the onscreen instructions.

The default ArmA 2 installation path is:

C:\Program Files\Bohemia Interactive\ArmA 2\AddOns

NOTE: If you do not wish to use the installer, right click on Taviana Island Installer.exe and select 'Open with WinRar', in which case the file will be opened as a standard .rar archive.

REPORTING BUGS

Are you having trouble with this island? Have you found a bug, a misplaced object or think that something should be looked at again?

Please leave a reply in the official Taviana thread on the official BIS forums:

<http://forums.bistudio.com/showthread.php?t=105530>

or PM me on the BIS forums:

The screenshot shows a forum post on the BIS forums. The title of the post is "Taviana Island Beta 1.0". The post contains a detailed report of a bug, with several text boxes and checkboxes for reporting information. The report includes details about the bug's behavior, steps to reproduce it, and screenshots. The forum interface shows other posts and user profiles.

ABOUT THE ISLAND

Taviana (Officialy: Tavianska Sovjetskaja Socialističeskaja Respublika - TSSR- The Soviet Socialist Republic of Taviana) is an island country situated in the Baltic Sea, approximately 120km off the coast of Lithuania and Kaliningrad. It has a population of approximately 1 500 000 inhabitants, of who 90% are ethnic Slavs called "Rustaki", Russians or Poles, and 10% ethnic Lithuanians.

The capital and second largest city of the republic is Sabina ,which is located on the southern coast of lake Umag. The capital has a population of approximately 150 000 inhabitants and is located neard the republics main international airport (Dubovo).

TSSR Flag

TSSR Coat of arms

The republic is made up of two islands, the bigger of which, on which the capital is located is called Ostrov Bukvac – named after the mythical Slavic creature which lurks around lakes at night due to the numerous lakes on the island. The smaller island is called Ostrov Leš (Lesh), named after the Slavic spirit which guards forests at night due to the island's large forests. The capital of Lesh, and third largest city in the republic is Branibor, situated near the republic's only nuclear power station, AES Trebljanka.

The republic is divided into 5 administrative regions referred to as "Oblasti", each having a capital city and coat of arms:

Religion

Altough the TSSR has no official religion, the largest religious group consisting of 70% of Tavianas population are Orthodox Christians, the second major religious group in the republic are Catholics consisting of approximately 15% population where as 15% of the population have no religion.

The Revolution

Following the 1917 uprising against the Tsarist autocracy Taviana gained independence from the Russian empire and established a Socialist government lead by the SPT (Socialističkaja Partija Taviany – The Socialist party of Taviana) to the present day. A 50 meter statue of Vladimir Illich Lenin was also built in the capital cities main square called (Sredmestje Vladimira Iliča Lenina - The Square of Vladimir Illich Lenin) to commemorate the 1917 revolution.

Economy

Approximately 50% the TSSR economy consists of the extraction of natural resources such as oil and gas which are drilled mainly on the islands north coasts. Fishing and farming form another 35% of the republics economy while heavy industry such as metal works, chemical plants and shipyards from the remaining 15% of the economy.

Conflicts

874 – The first recorded conflict on Taviana took place on the site where today's port Molotovsk stands in the year 874 between Slavic migrants from the East and native Nordic inhabitants which were eventually forced out of the island.

1240 – 1241 – In the year 1240 Norwegian forces invaded Taviana in an attempt to conquer the island but were forced out one year later in the final battle that took place on the fields of Stari Bor.

1015 – In the year 1015 the Roman empire launched a series of failed attempts to conquer the island.

1600-1611 – In the years between 1600 – 1611 Taviana was invaded by Swedish forces during the Polish-Swedish war but where forced off the island by Polish forces in the battle on the fields on Novi Bor.

1625-1629 – In the years between 1625 – 1629 Taviana took part in the Polish-Swedish war, fighting on the Polish side.

1914-1918 (World war 1) - Taviana remained mostly untouched by World War 1 although some conflicts were fought in Prussia and Kaliningrad in attempts to seize the provinces from German control. The years between 1914 – 1918 also saw the Bolshevik revolution of 1917 which gave Taviana independence from Tsarist rule.

1939-1945 (World War 2) – World War 2 was a very dark chapter in Taviana's history. The island was invaded by the Third Reich which forced the Socialist government and the Taviana armed forces in to exile in the Soviet Union where the Taviana armed forces merged with the Red Army and fought against the Third Reich. While fighting continued the Jewish population of Taviana was deported to death camps in Poland while the native population of Taviana was forced in to labour, manufacturing weapons.

In the last phases of World War 2 Taviana was liberated by Red army troops and surviving troops of the Taviana guerrilla forces who reinstalled the socialist government.

LANGUAGE

The official spoken language on Taviana is Tavianian (Tavijanski Jazik) which is an Eastern Slavic language written in a variation of the Belarusian Cyrillic alphabet. Lithuanian, Russian and Polish are also officially recognised languages of the republic. Tavianski Tavianian and Russian are both administrative languages in the republic.

NATURE

Taviana is a volcanic island with a very rough and rocky terrain. The biggest volcano in the region is Vulkan Perun, named after the Slavic God Perun. It is situated on the bigger of the two islands (Bukvac) and is also the highest point in the republic, towering above the Baltic sea at 1007 meters. The second tallest mountain in the republic is Gora Lazar (632 meters) which overlooks the second largest city on the island Lespestok. The slightly warmer Southern tip of the island with lower elevations is covered in mostly broad leaf vegetation where as the cooler north of the island is covered with dense pine forests, picturesque lakes and mountain slopes. The second volcano, Vilas, is located on the second island Lesh. Lesh also features two lakes, Bled and Slepac in the middle of which the historic Cathedral of Christ the Saviour stands and a tiny island.

Although there is no river on either of the two islands, there are a number of lakes, the largest of which is lake Umag, situated beside the capital city Sabina. The second largest body of water is Lybolsky Zaliv which is a bay in the North of the bigger island with a small opening in to the Baltic sea. A large portion of the island is not only covered in forests but also in a variety of crops, fruits and vegetables amongst which are wheat, colza, potatoes, tomatoes, apples, watermelons, pumpkins, pears, malt, onion and so on... Wine is also produced on the island. Taviana is also home to a number of wild animals, including deer, wild boars, seagulls, mink, black bears and various fish and bird species.

SABINA

The capital and largest city on Taviana Island is Sabina. The city was founded in the year 1241 by king Solibor, following the war with Norwegian invaders in which he successfully defeated the invaders by taking advantage of the islands terrain despite being outnumbered 3 to 1. The city was named after his wife Sabina who he married in the same year. Legend has it that on the site where St. Volodymyr's church now stands, a castle used to stand in which queen Sabina was held and rescued by king Solibor himself.

The most prominent feature of the city is the statue of Vladimir Lenin in the square of the Revolution erected after the 1917 Bolshevik revolution. The square of the Revolution is also where the national bank of Taviana is located, as well as the national museum and library. The national museum was built in 1886 alongside the national university located beside it. The capital city also contains the national gallery and a number of large shopping centres. Some of the more recent architectural achievements in the capital is the parliament building, based on the GDR parliament building in East Berlin or Hotel Marcomio which is the tallest structure in the city. The capital also contains a 750 meter underground tunnel complete with a train station built in 1927 by the communist party.
